EXPERIENCE

With over 60 years of DoD and commercial industry experience, the Watkins LMG management team knows what it takes to develop innovative technical solutions from start to finish.

From managing inventories valued at over $1.8 billion, to winning DoD level awards for complete weapons system management, to providing worldwide distribution support, our team has the experience needed to achieve win-win solutions in today's complex operational environments.

ADVISORY SOLUTIONS

Many forward-thinking companies have deep supply chain management competencies in place but haven't fully leveraged them to capture market opportunities as profitably as possible. Other companies may consider supply chain transformation an important agenda item but lack the internal resources to manage large-scale change. The management team at Watkins LMG leverages decades of defense and commercial operational experience to identify, understand and solve these important issues.

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

Utilizing cutting edge technologies coupled with subject matter experts (SMEs) who have real world operational experience, we know what it takes to custom fit our logistics support to fulfill our clients' missions.

Watkins LMG's dedicated team of experts can provide clients measurable and sustainable advantages in

- Managing Logistics Programs
